

AH3 The evolution of Human Body

Intervenients: Four teachers, Students

Date : may 2017

Place: Anthropology Museum, Coimbra

Nr of students: 50

Skills targeted:

- Students understand how human development is directly and strictly linked to environmental changes and how they can influence each other

Aims and description:

Understand how evolutionary, environmental and cultural forces resolved a diversity of hominin species into one;

- Understand how diverse are modern humans and primates, and how have they adapted to the environments in which they live

The students did a guided visit to the museum to understand the differences and similarities, for example, between whites and blacks, diverse languages; the clothing of Indian and non-Indian, and they did a report on the visit

Results / Outcomes: Visit , photos, reports
