

CHECK YOUR GRAMMAR 1L'article (1) A-AN-THE-Ø*B1/B2*Complétez avec a - an – the ou Ø

1. I go to Paris twice month to visit my children.
2. I love peanut butter, but one you bought last week was much too salty !
3. Yesterday's storm caused a lot of damage tochurch.
4. He has playedpiano since the age of 5.
5. I think he works forEuropean institution in Brussels.
6. If you go to a country pub on a Friday night, you'll see everybody playing darts.
7. I'm AirBnB addict! It gives people the opportunity to visit..... unknown places in just one click'. So, if you're looking for once-in-a-lifetime experience, join the community!
8. Do you know the proverb "Birds offeather flock together"? InFrench, it means « Qui se ressemble s'assemble ».
9. She was rewarded withhonourable mention for her whole career.
10. English isinternational, evenuniversal language.
11. The French are changing their spelling rules. They will now write nénufer withF, week end withouthyphen and des après-midis withS.
12. Asprison visitors, they regularly go to local prison to meet the convicts. It requiresunique sense of dedication and charity.

My score___ /20

CHECK YOUR GRAMMAR 1L'article (1) A-AN-THE-Ø*B1/B2*Complétez avec a - an – the ou Ø

1. I go to Paris twice month to visit my children.
2. I love peanut butter, but one you bought last week was much too salty !
3. Yesterday's storm caused a lot of damage tochurch.
4. He has playedpiano since the age of 5.
5. I think he works forEuropean institution in Brussels.
6. If you go to a country pub on a Friday night, you'll see everybody playing darts.
7. I'm AirBnB addict! It gives people the opportunity to visit..... unknown places in just one click'. So, if you're looking for once-in-a-lifetime experience, join the community!
8. Do you know the proverb "Birds offeather flock together"? InFrench, it means « Qui se ressemble s'assemble ».
9. She was rewarded withhonourable mention for her whole career.
10. English isinternational, evenuniversal language.
11. The French are changing their spelling rules. They will now write nénufer withF, week end withouthyphen and des après-midis withS.
12. Asprison visitors, they regularly go to local prison to meet the convicts. It requiresunique sense of dedication and charity.

My score___ /20