Art for me is a form of freedom. It doesn't have to be ^{necessarily} obligatory a drawing, ^{indeed}, it can be ^{need} a photography, a performance, or a music. I think it is a way to help us to express our ^{deep} feelings. ^{reckon} means of helping

For me, art is a tool to express ourselves, ~~It's a tool to express~~ an idea, an emotion and a lot of other things. ^{Also,} art is a tool to communicate, ^{many} a means of communication.
Plus,
What's more,
Moreover,

For me, art is opposed to everything useful, and it's ^{more} about subjectivity (?). Art can also be everything we ^{feel like} want, like i.e. a taped banana, for example. I think art ~~has~~ ^{has} a lot of similarities with poetry.
* for example = for instance is very/extremely/utterly similar to

For me, Art is something ^(which is) fantastic and ^{gorgeous} gorgeous. It gives me the ^{opportunity} occasion to express myself and to create things that I really love, like fictional characters, creatures, new worlds... Art is something that ^{brings} offers life to inanimate and flat objects ^{to life} stand which makes the world we know a little better, ^{little}

In my opinion, Art is ^{synonymous with} a synonym of freedom. It allows me to express my feelings when I don't know how to do ~~so~~ in another way. Art is like an escape from reality for me.
