

A request from Becky J

We have been providing free designs and support for years because we believe it's important to help those around the world who enjoy this craft as much as we do. Today, with the economies of the world (and all our households) under strain, we believe this is more important than ever. We are pleased to note our site is accessed from all over the globe, even in Iceland, Mongolia, Slovenia and the Aland Islands. Whereever you call home, since our graphics and hosting providers, webmaster and such are not free for us, we would ask you to consider purchasing a design set or even making a small donation so we can continue giving a global audience what we believe to be valuable products without charge. Thank you. Becky J

The free design set contest is on hiatus. Please review the above notice.
