3. THE CITY BENÁTKY NAD JIZEROU

The first written mention of the village dates back to 1259. The town rights were transferred from Old Benátky in the 14th century, when a new town (New Benátky) was founded. In 1599, the famous Danish alchemist and astronomer Tycho Brahe was offered by Emperor Rudolf II to stay in an imperial castle near Prague. He chose Benátky because of its favorable location for stargazing. The construction of the castle was led and completed by the imperial builder Giovanni Maria Filippi.

Brahe set up an alchemist's workshop there and sent the Emperor an elixir against the plague the same year. At the beginning of February 1600, another famous scholar, Johannes Kepler, came to visit Tycho Brahe. In the 19th century, Bedřich Smetana also worked as a music teacher for the Thun family. The merger of Old and New Benátky took place in 1944.

The main monument of the town is the Renaissance castle, which is covered with a sgraffito façade, the interior of the castle houses the regional museum (Tycho de Brahe Hall). Also worth a visit is the Church of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary at the castle with its tower. The chateau gardens and vineyards surrounding the chateau are worth a visit. You will also find <https://muzeumhracek.webpark.cz/>.

Then go to the prehistoric landscape <https://www.ceska-krajina.cz/rezervace/prirodni-rezervace-milovice/>. Bison and wild horses can be found in the grassland of Travina near Kbel, a district of Benátky nad Jizerou. You can reach the animal enclosure on foot from the bikros area.

A visit to the park <https://mirakulum.cz/en/> is worth another mention in the area, certainly irresistible for children. A land full of games, fun, trees, animals and children's imagination can be found in Milovice in Central Bohemia. The unique 12-hectare amusement and educational park has found inspiration in the best of the world's parks and in the most secret wishes of children.
